Daniel Craig as James Bond – the inspiration for real spies?

ARTS UNVEILED

The Sneaky Tricks of Spies

Pistols concealed in gloves, umbrellas that fire poison darts: Arts Unveiled reveals just some of the creative ways secret agents have developed to spy on, or even annihilate the competition, and shows how reality isn't so far removed from fiction. In the perpetual race for the best ideas, intelligence service bosses apparently love going to the movies for inspiration from silver screen agents like James Bond. The more perfidious the weapons, the tinier the bugging devices, and the more camouflaged the cameras, the more faith a spy has in their ability to overcome their opponent.

Russians vs. Russia

Prison, assassination, poison attacks: In Vladimir Putin's Russia, opposition members are in greater peril than ever. Alexei Navalny is just one name on an increasingly long list. The documentary Russians v. Russia shows just how difficult it is to express any kind of political protest in this nation. Recent years have seen a gradual curtailment of demonstration rights and media freedoms. NGOs are discredited and even banned. In the film, dissidents both in and outside the country talk about their encounters with Russian state power.

Jud Süß 2.0

Anti-Jewish stereotypes and conspiracy myths are being recycled in the digital realm. Anti-Semitic content is being posted and shared millions of times over. Memes, media codes and imagery are therefore reaching new target groups and exerting a profound impact on society. The documentary Jud Süß 2.0 – Antisemitism from the Nazi Era into the Digital Age decodes these tropes both old and new. The film traces the origins of these conspiracy narratives, some of which appear directly linked to stereotypes once peddled by Joseph Goebbels' propaganda ministry.

Street Food Favorites

Straight up or with sweet toppings like ice-cream, whipped cream or chocolate sauce: The Belgian waffle is an irresistible calorie bomb! It's undoubtedly one of the big stars on the country's culinary stage. But what is it about the Belgian waffle that makes it so popular? What goes into the batter? And what's the difference between waffles from Brussels and Liège? Questions explored in a new episode of the series "Europe's Best Street Food" – only on Euromaxx.

THE 77 PERCENT

How to Overcome Tribalism?

The aftermath of the Berlin Conference of 1884-85 and other bilateral treaties of former European colonial powers, which drew artificial national borders across established areas of influence, is still felt today in many countries of sub-Saharan Africa. It manifests itself in tensions, political conflicts, and even genocides. In its Street Debate, The 77 Percent asks young people in Nigeria, a country containing 400 different ethnic groups: How can Gen Z's help to overcome tribalism and unify the country?

📺 On TV starting Sat 11 November 05:30

BUSINESS BEYOND

Why Big Automakers are Losing China

Big carmakers like Volkswagen and Toyota were once top sellers in China. Now they're rapidly losing ground to a new generation of Chinese companies luring local buyers with advanced – and affordable – electric vehicles. Business Beyond looks at what legacy carmakers got wrong, what Beijing got right and how the next few years could reshuffle the global car industry.

Kyiv's Techno Scene Rebuilds

They're young, they love techno and they're living in the midst of war. Russia's invasion of Ukraine has upended the lives of Dascha, Vika and Sascha from Kyiv: They've quit their regular jobs to rebuild their homeland with the initiative "Repair Together." But as winter approaches, their plans to hold outdoor 'construction raves' will be put to the test. How to get enough people interested in their project despite the cold? Find out more in the documentary Kyiv's Techno Scene Rebuilds – Reconstruction, to the Beat.
